This work would not be possible without the input from and collaboration with countless organizations, including the Canadian Forum for Human Rights and Democracy in India, Canadians Against Oppression & Persecution, Hindutva Watch, and the Canadian Council of Indian Muslims. Thank you to each organization listed, and those that have supported in the background.

This report uses the invaluable work of Seeing the Sangh, “the world’s first comprehensive map of the organisational affiliates surrounding the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh” which is housed at the Science Po’s Centre for International Studies. It is also publicly available through The Caravan.

Just Peace Advocates is a Canadian-based independent human rights organization. We analyze, expose, and hold accountable institutional complicity, particularly Canadian complicity in both occupied Palestine and Kashmir. More broadly, our work is rooted in anti-imperialism, decolonization, and the struggles of peoples oppressed by colonial systems globally.

The Government of Canada has failed in its commitments to keep Indian-Canadians safe. As this report reveals, under the watch of the Canada Revenue Agency, charitable foundations are sending tens of millions of dollars to organizations in Canada and India that are linked to the far-right RSS network. The RSS has a well-documented history of violence against minoritized Muslim, Sikh, Christian, and Dalit communities. At the same time, the government has not acted to prevent the chief of RSS, Mohan Bhagwat, from visiting Canada despite public safety concerns raised by hundreds of civil society organizations and individuals.

— Member of Canadian Forum for Human Rights and Democracy in India

Canadian tax dollars shouldn't be used to fund violent supremacist groups and causes abroad. If Canadian nonprofits are sending money to Hindu nationalist groups in India, the CRA needs to look closely at where that money is going and what it is funding. Any serious violations of Canada's charity laws should be thoroughly investigated.

The Canadian Council of Indian Muslims (CCIM) is deeply concerned by the flow of Canadian charitable funding to RSS-linked organizations in Canada and India. As an extreme-right paramilitary entity, the RSS promotes an exclusionary ideology aimed at marginalizing Muslims and other religious minorities. The severity of this threat is recognized globally: the U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom (USCIRF) has repeatedly documented how RSS subgroups perpetrate violence and incitement against minorities, going so far as to call for targeted sanctions against the organization. This aligns with domestic findings, including the landmark 2023 NCCM-WSO report, which detailed similar patterns of violence and hate speech. Allowing tax-deductible Canadian funds to support hate-driven groups directly contradicts Canadian values of pluralism and human rights. We call on the federal government to immediately audit these channels and revoke the charitable status of entities funding extremism.

— The Canadian Council of Indian Muslims

Canadians Against Oppression and Persecution (CAOP) joins Just Peace Advocates (JPA) in calling for scrutiny of Canadian charity dollars and the broader Sangh Parivar network. Growing research suggests that some Canadian nonprofits engage with the global network linked to India's Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) and its affiliated "Sangh Parivar" organizations. The Sangh Parivar encompasses groups like the RSS, Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP), Sewa Bharati, Hindu Swayamsevak Sangh (HSS), and others. These RSS-linked humanitarian charities, school programs, and political advocacy in Canada aim to organize the Indo-Canadian diaspora while promoting an ideology that marginalizes India's minority groups. While these organizations present their work as disaster relief, education, and cultural programs, the same networks actively promote Hindutva—an ideology centered on Hindu majoritarianism and identity. This promotion occurs in contexts where minorities face documented violence, discrimination, and exclusion, including anti-Muslim riots, cow-vigilante attacks, anti-conversion laws, and pressure on Christians, Sikhs, Dalits, and Adivasis. Human-rights monitors have repeatedly highlighted the deteriorating climate for religious minorities in India. Canadian registered charities receive tax-exempt status on the understanding that donations benefit the public, not political projects abroad. Therefore, Canadian taxpayers should not indirectly subsidize activities that reinforce majoritarian politics or foster communal tension. Charities that send funds overseas must exercise direction and control, and demonstrate that recipients don't promote exclusionary ideologies.

Canadians Against Oppression and Persecution (CAOP) strongly urges the Canada Revenue Agency to audit these flows for compliance with charity law. Donors deserve transparency. Humanitarian language cannot shield partisan or supremacist projects. Canada's multicultural commitments require that tax-advantaged giving not support oppression elsewhere. The concerns raised by numerous international human rights organizations deserve serious scrutiny, as they've documented discrimination, violence, and restrictions affecting religious minorities in India. Recent reporting has also highlighted ongoing concerns about the treatment of Muslims, Christians, and other minorities.

— Canadians Against Oppression and Persecution

Canadian law is clear that organizations holding charitable status should provide public benefits and should not support a political party. The RSS is explicitly aligned with the far-right BJP in India, and it espouses an intolerant Hindu nationalist ideology. Organizations closely affiliated with it risk contravening Canadian prohibitions on religious discrimination. They should be examined closely in light of the CRA's requirements, to ensure that donations intended for charitable works in India are not being diverted to promote politics that treats religious minorities as second-class citizens and puts their safety at risk.

— Sonia Sikka, member, Hindus for Human Rights Canada

Since the 1970s, the RSS has relied on its international appendages to funnel funds and international legitimacy to its network in India. Often, due to the compulsions of the countries in which they work, these organisations adopt the language of multiculturalism and pluralism. However, despite these rhetorical commitments, they often remain deeply enmeshed in the material and financial networks that sustain Hindu supremacists in India responsible for marginalisation and violence against minorities. The differences in rhetoric between these diaspora groups and the Sangh network in India thus should be considered strategic multivocality, rather than a deep organisational distinction.

The CRA has a responsibility to regulate registered charities. We are simply asking the CRA to do its job: investigate and ensure that these charities aren't violating any the law. For too long, organizations have been allowed to use tax-payer subsidized dollars to support racist and nationalist ideologies. It's not surprising when you recognize Canada as a settler colonial state built on these same principles. However, this does not absolve the CRA of its responsibilities. We ask that the CRA take immediate and comprehensive action.

INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

The RSS, Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh or the Sangh for short, is one of the most influential non-government groups in the world.

It's also the mother organization behind the party currently governing India: the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). Yet, outside India, few know about the RSS, its agenda, and its ideas.

The RSS was founded in 1925 with the core mission of transforming India, a pluralistic society, into a majoritarian Hindu nation-state, marginalizing non-Hindu minority groups, including Muslims, Sikhs, Christians, Dalits, and Adivasis (Indigenous Peoples).

The RSS is not merely a cultural or religious organization. It is a century-old paramilitary brotherhood, the ideological and organizational parent of a vast network of groups collectively known as the Sangh Parivar.^{*1} This includes the BJP, which has ruled India since 2014.² Prominent in the RSS family are the following organizations operating world-wide: Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP – World Hindu Council), Hindu Swayamsevak Sangh (HSS), Sewa International, India Development and Relief Fund (IDRF) and Coalition of Hindus of North America (COHNA). For decades, the RSS has propagated right wing Hindu nationalist ideology, resulting in communal polarization and open hostility towards India's religious minorities.

It is worth noting the overall structure the RSS uses for its work. The RSS is based around shakhas (branches) and prants (provinces). The Sangh has 46 prants which are supervised by pracharaks (propagandists), karyavahs (general secretaries), and sanghchalaks (coordinators). Each of the prants have specific goals (e.g., create a militia and train youth for armed warfare, train youth to be political leaders). There are over 80,000 shakas in India and abroad. In these shakas, male RSS members gather and train in martial arts and are fed supremacist propaganda. Women are also trained, including to hate Muslims and kill them if necessary. There are over 2,000 organizations that have been linked to the RSS (more information provided under Methodology). These organizations which include private companies and charitable organizations collect millions of dollars, which the RSS has framed as “guru dakhshina” to its shakas (gift of gratitude). These shakas spread propaganda affirming Hindu civilizational supremacy and self-reliance.*

The RSS's ideology was clearly outlined by its second chief, MS. Golwalkar:

The non-Hindu peoples in India must either adopt the Hindu culture and language, must learn to respect and hold in reverence Hindu religion, must entertain no idea but those of glorification of the Hindu race and culture... or they may stay in the country, wholly subordinated to the Hindu nation, claiming nothing, deserving no privileges, far less any preferential treatment—not even citizen's rights.³

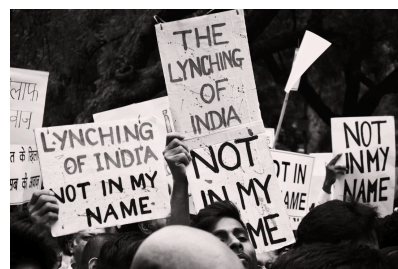

Golwalkar was, and believed all Hindus should be, inspired by the Nazi's genocidal treatment of the Jewish people.⁴ Under Mohan Bhagwat, current RSS chief, the philosophy of RSS has been fully operationalized.

Islamophobia has always been a central feature of the ideology of Hindu nationalist factions in India.⁵

From its inception, RSS affiliated political parties have used anti-Muslim hate and stereotypes to fuel its campaigns. This has only accelerated under the Modi-led, BJP government. This is evidenced through violence in the form of “cow-protection” Lynchings,⁶ Mob-Lynchings,⁷ Home Demolitions and Bulldozer led destruction of whole communities.⁸ Before Bhagwat was RSS Chief, he was its General Secretary. During this time, between 2006 and 2008, he specifically gave his consent for terrorist attacks against Muslim communities, stating that “[i]t is very important that it [the violence] be done. But you should not link it to the Sangh.”⁹ It is also clear in the ongoing annexation and Indian-occupation of Kashmir and Jammu.¹⁰

Source: United Christian Forum

Source: Associated Press

Source: Sam Panthaky / AFP

Bhagwat has repeatedly characterized Muslim and Christian communities as demographic threats to India's Hindu majority.¹¹ This pattern of vilification induces impunity for anti-religious hate, extending to Christians who endure church burnings, attacks on pastors, oppressive anti-Christian legislation, and pervasive persecution. The Evangelical Fellowship of India has documented 747 verified incidents of hostility against Christians in 2025 alone.¹²

RSS has been consistently accused of perpetuating caste-based discrimination and violence against Dalits, with critics pointing to its Brahminical leadership structure and the systemic exclusion of Dalits from positions of power within the organization. According to former RSS member Bhanwar Meghwanshi, Dalits are used merely as "foot soldiers" while being systematically kept away from leadership roles and denied even basic dignity — for instance, RSS members refused to eat food prepared in a Dalit's home.

RSS and its affiliated groups have been linked to several high-profile breaches of Canadian sovereignty and public safety, such as the targeted extrajudicial killings executed on Canadian soil, most notably the murder of Sikh community leader Hardeep Singh Nijjar.¹³ Nijjar had been labelled as a terrorist by the Indian government, and just before his assassination, the Canadian Security Intelligence Service “told Nijjar they had information that he was ‘under threat from professional assassins.’”¹⁴

Source: BBC News

Just three months after Nijjar was killed, then Prime Minister Justin Trudeau stood up in Parliament to state that there were “credible allegations” of a link between the Indian government and Nijjar’s murder.¹⁵ Shortly thereafter, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) publicly “linked the Government of India with acts of violence on Canadian soil and ongoing foreign actor interference.”¹⁶

The RSS has been banned five times in India since its creation (1930, 1947, 1948, 1975, 1992). In 2026, after seven years of warnings, the United States Commission on International Religious Freedom (USCIRF) recommended the US impose targeted sanctions against the RSS and its leadership. In its report, USCIRF cited RSS for its direct responsibility for and tolerance of severe systemic violations of religious freedoms and human rights.¹⁷ The US Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) has already designated two RSS wings as militant religious organizations — the Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) and Bajrang Dal.¹⁸

The RSS has operated internationally for several decades. A recent report from Savera has documented the influence and operations of the RSS’s “Vishwa Vibhag” or “Overseas Department”, a secretive but influential unit that coordinates its operations abroad — even as the RSS insists that it operates only in India.¹⁹ The Savera report names Santosh Prabhu, an RSS pracharak (full-timer) based in Canada specifically deputed to run the Hindu Swayamsevak Sangh (HSS) Canada — the international branch of the RSS²⁰ — as a key figure ensuring the RSS exerts control and supervision over HSS Canada. This evidence blows open the HSS Canada’s own evasive claim that it operates in an independent and autonomous manner and merely represents the interests of Canadian Hindus. In fact, Prabhu’s supervisor, Saumitra Gokhale, the RSS’s International Coordinator, has boasted about how the RSS operates under different names in different countries to evade accountability.

*Former MP Chandra Arya raised the RSS flag on Parliament Hill
Source: Chandra Arya on X / The Breach*

The stakes of the RSS’s deep footprints in the Canada are stark. The Hindu far-right in Canada has not only funded and abetted their counterparts in India but also advanced divisiveness in the Canada, from its growing ties to the Canadian right-wing to its direct role in stoking tensions between Canadian Hindus and their Sikh and Muslim neighbours.

The RSS’s international wing, the Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) was established in 1964 with the aim of building the Hindu community world-wide. It has several chapters across North America and operates through a diverse range of organizations that claim to be autonomous; they express cultural, educational, and charitable aims, but are in fact committed to furthering Hindu supremacist nationalism. This includes incitement of hatred and violence toward Indian minority communities and caste-oppressed groups in the diaspora, silencing of critics and dissenters, and raising of funds in support of its activities in India.²¹

The broad family of groups existing under the RSS umbrella (Sangh Parivar) include a large humanitarian wing that provides disaster relief, rehabilitation, and social services to the underprivileged both inside and outside of India, albeit steeped within the exclusivist ideals of Hindutva. Active in dozens of countries, this expansive humanitarian apparatus projects a benign face of RSS-inspired beliefs and structures across the world, particularly to those who are unfamiliar with the group’s troubling ideologies and track record of anti-minority supremacism.²²

RSS’s sophisticated and opaque transnational network of organizations operates worldwide and harvest funds under the guise of charitable donations, while evading accountability, including, but not limited to, the provisions of the Income Tax Act, as detailed below.²³ Prime Minister Modi called the RSS “the world’s largest NGO” and a global database, housed at Sciences Po’s Center for International Research (CERI), Seeing the Sangh, described its family of organizations as “the largest far-right network in history.”²⁴ RSS’s highly decentralized global structure with thousands of local “fronts” operates opaque funding pipelines. These pipelines allow capital, corporate donations and community charity funds to move across international borders with minimal regulatory oversight, obscuring the ultimate destination and use of the funds.²⁵

We have tracked the money flow of several RSS-affiliated organizations in Canada. While many are non-profits and therefore are not required to disclose their financial records, we identified 11 affiliated organizations with 21 registered Canadian charities. Overall, we found approximately $46 million moving between RSS-affiliated organizations in Canada. Additionally, these Canadian, RSS-affiliated organizations also sent over $21.5 million to other RSS-linked groups outside of Canada.

METHODOLOGY

We used the Seeing the Sangh database to identify RSS-affiliated organizations in Canada.²⁶ Seeing the Sangh has 14 Canadian organizations included in its database, 13 of which have a confirmed link to the RSS. The following table outlines these 13 and their status in Canada. We also identified other Canadian affiliates of confirmed RSS-linked organizations in India.

Table 1: Canadian Organizations Included by Seeing the Sangh

NAME	STATUS IN CANADA	SEEING THE SANGH

Based on these findings, we included 11 organizations in this analysis, with a total of 21 registered charities. This difference is because some organizations have more than 1 associated charity in Canada. We have placed each of these organizations into a category that aligns with the analysis done by the National Council of Canadian Muslims and World Sikh Organization in their 2023 report “Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) Network in Canada”.²⁷

Further, we have classified the 11 organizations into 3 tiers:

1 Core Sangh organizations

2 Sangh-embedded organizations

3 Sangh alliesⁱ

ⁱ This complaint does not ask the CRA to examine these sects as a whole, but specifically where their finances and operations intersect with that of the Sangh.

As noted above, the RSS is a sophisticated yet opaque network that intentionally obfuscates the arrangement of organizations in its network. These classifications help to elucidate the deliberately complicated connections between RSS-affiliated groups.

There are three main types of data included throughout the report:

- Donations from an Organization to other registered Canadian charities. This data is obtained from the T1236 form of charities' annual filings.
- Donations to one of the included Organization from other registered Canadian charities. This data is obtained from the T1236 form of charities' annual filings.
- Donations from an Organization to a group outside of Canada. This data is obtained from the Schedule 2 form of charities' annual filings. Note, in some cases, the Organizations included in this report have listed out-of-country donations on their T1236 (intended only for Canadian recipients) and on their Schedule 2 form. Where this has occurred, we have noted it.

In various instances, Organizations were documented sending money to other RSS-affiliated groups.ⁱⁱ Where these are Canadian Organizations included in this report, they are highlighted in the colour corresponding to their classification (red, orange, yellow). Where these are international organizations listed by Seeing the Sangh, they are highlighted in green.ⁱⁱⁱ ⁱⁱ This is based on data from Seeing the Sangh. Where a name in the data matches the name of an organization in Seeing the Sangh, we have highlighted it. There are likely additional donations to RSS-affiliated groups not listed, however, due to variations in name spellings and incomplete CRA filings, we are unable to confirm.

ⁱⁱⁱ Where available, we have compared the charities' total expenses to the amount sent out-of-country annually. In many cases the value is over 100%. This suggests inaccurate / messy reporting. We have asked the CRA to investigate ; see the Legal Analysis below.

RESULTS AND ANALYSIS

1 HINDU SWAYAMSEVAK SANGH

Source: Hindutva Watch

Hindu Swayamsevak Sangh (HSS) is the international branch of the RSS.¹ HSS Canada was founded by Labhamal Sabharwal, a parachak (RSS missionary) who also founded and led the Vishwa Hindu Parishad of Canada (see below). HSS Canada is “the central node of all Sangh activities in the country.”² It has hosted many Sangh leaders, including:³

- Sarvashri Lakshman Shrikrishna Bhide
- Dr. Shankar Tatwawadi (now chief coordinator of the Vishwa Sangh)
- Dr. Mahesh Mehta (President VHP, US)
- Rajendra Singh (then RSS General Secretary)
- H. V. Seshadri (then RSS Sahsarkaryavah)
- Dr. Bhishma Agnihotri (former Ambassador at Large / Special Envoy for NRI Affairs, US)
- Atal Behari Vajpayee (former Prime Minister)
- Lal Krishna Advani (former Deputy Prime Minister and Home Minister)
- Ved Prakash Nanda (Sanghchalak, Chairman of International Jurists’ Association)
- Dr. R.S. Dwivedi (Sahasanghchalak, US)
- Dr. Manohar Shinde (Karyavaha, US)
- Man. Sudarshan ji (Sarsanghchalak, RSS)

HSS Canada lists 33 shakhas⁴ across Canada.⁵ While outside the scope of this report, these entities may be examined in the future.

HINDU INSTITUTE OF LEARNING

The Hindu Institute of Learning was an organization associated with HSS Canada. It was established in 1994 and operated until its revocation in 2017. In its Notice of Intention to Revoke (NITR) letter, the CRA outlined several areas of non-compliance:⁶

Failed to devote resources to charitable activities carried out by the Organization itself

- The CRA, when considering the legal requirements to determine whether a purpose or activity is charitable re: the advancement of education found that “The Organization failed to provide documentary evidence to establish that it is an education institution...”
- The Organization made payments to individuals who the Board could not provide a description of duties; further, they were paid “substantially more” than the Organization “received as revenue for tuition.”
- The funds spent on expenditures like management and administration were not incidental or ancillary to the Organizations purpose.

Failed to operate exclusively for charitable purposes

- The CRA found that the Organization was pursuing “an unstated collateral non-charitable purpose; namely, fundraising.”

Failed to issue donation receipts in accordance with the law

- The Organization had issues with the receipt contents as well as receipt security. They also improperly issued receipts for a fundraising dinner and tuition fees.

Failed to file an accurate T3010

- The CRA identified issues with undeposited revenues, improper completion (e.g., reporting inaccurate values or completely missing certain line items), and incorrect information about the charity in general / its programs.

Failed to maintain adequate books and records

- The Organization could not provide meeting minutes for 2012 or 2014. There was no reliable record keeping for funds received or spent.

2 VISHWA HINDU PARISHAD OF ONTARIO (CANADA)

Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) of Ontario (VHP Canada) is a branch of the VHP organization in India. It was founded in 1964 by Madav Sadashiv Golwalkar (the second RSS Chief), Shivram Shankar Apte, and Swami Chinmayananda.⁷ It is a Hindu nationalist organization that operates as the religious wing of the Sangh groups.⁸ RSS pracharak Swami Vigyananand is responsible for coordinating VHP's global network and attended at least two document events in 2025; one in Surrey BC and another in Calmar AB.⁹

Under the guise of so-called “religious regeneration,” the VHP seeks to mobilize Hindus both in India and outside to convert the current Indian secular republic into a theocratic nation, often through violent agitation. Over the past five decades, the VHP — together with its youth militias, the Bajrang Dal and the Durga Vahini — has been responsible for a long and gruesome history of violence, particularly against Muslim and Christian minorities in India.¹⁰

In recent years, VHP leadership has not only increased its calls for violence, including advocating for the “ethnic cleansing and/or genocide of India’s] Muslim citizens”, it has also been the force behind the mass violence itself.¹¹

3 SEWA CANADA INTERNATIONAL AID INC.

Sewa Canada International Aid was founded in 1991 — originally known as Sewa Bharati Toronto Chapter. It was established “by Asaha Sehgal, a Rashtra Sevika Samiti leader in Candaa.”¹² One of the founders, Sat Wadhwa, and Secretary General of Sew Canada said some projects funded by the organization are “directly managed by Sewa Bharti and others, particularly in the tribal zones, by the Vanvasi Kalyan Ashram.”¹³ Sewa Bharti or the Rashtriya Seva Bharati is a community service organization within the RSS.¹⁴ Vanvasi Kalyan Ashram is a community organization established by the Vishwa Hindu Parishad and is a formal RSS affiliate.¹⁵

In 2006, during the Bhopal floods that killed 22 people and inundated the whole city, Sewa Bharti was accused of distributing relief material to Hindus only, while neglecting the Muslim localities. Two years earlier in January 2004, Sewa Bharti along with VHP and BJP members were accused of leading mob attacks on Christians, their churches, and homes in Alirajpur, Madhya Pradesh.¹⁶

The majority of Sewa Canada’s funds are gifted to RSS-linked organizations, including:

- Youth For Seva
- Vivekananda Kendra
- Swamy Vivekananda Medical Mission
- Swami Vivekananda Cultural Society
- Suvendu Memorial Trust
- Sewa Sahayog Foundation
- Sewa International

4 EKAL VIDYALAYA FOUNDATION OF CANADA

The Ekal Vidyalaya Foundation of Canada (EVFC) was founded in 2006 and is a subsidiary of Ekal Abhiyan Trust (EAT) / Ekal Vidyalaya Foundation of India (EVFI).¹⁷ EAT was the vision and creation of a “top RSS organizer”, Bhaurao Deoras, who was also the brother of the third RSS chief (sarsanghchalak) Madhukar Dattatreya Deoras.¹⁸ In addition to being a direct subsidiary of an RSS-affiliated organization, EVFC has also co-hosted events with Sangh affiliates, hosted RSS or other Sangh speakers, and shared officials with Sangh appendages.¹⁹

Ekal Vidyalaya is one of many tools of RSS indoctrination. The thousands of Ekal Vidyalaya schools, often run by one-teacher, are “merely the starting point of the Sangh’s aim of influencing every other major aspect of the entire village’s life—education, health, economy, environment, self-empowerment, culture, sense of morality and the religion they follow.”²⁰ This has been documented by the Government of India itself, when the BJP was not in power.²¹

Muslim students are taught patriotism and “the duties of being a ‘Hindustani’”

The training to the teachers of Ekal schools was mainly to spread communal disharmony in the communities and also to inculcate a fundamentalist political ideology... creating enmity amongst communities on the basis of religion.²²

Since 2009, the vast majority of EVFC's funds are sent to RSS-linked organizations in India, including EVFI. In addition to sending funds to EVFI (and a small donation to EVF in the US), EVFC has sent funds to the Arogya Foundation India, Ekal Gramothan Foundation, and Prayas School Welfare Society India. Notably, these were reported on the T1236 form, and it appears their Schedule 2 form.

The Arogya Foundation is the medical component of EAT²³ while Ekal Gramothan is another wing focused on rural self-reliance.²⁴ The Prayas Welfare Society is listed by Seeing the Sangh as possibly linked to RSS as it is listed as an affiliate of Rashitriya Seva Bharati, an RSS affiliated organization.²⁵

5 HINDU SOCIETY OF OTTAWA-CARLETON

The Hindu Society of Ottawa-Carleton is an advocacy group located in Nepean, Ontario. It was established in 1992 and is a registered charity.²⁶ It has received funds from Sangh sources, sent money to Sangh organizations, and has links to RSS organizations in its materials.²⁷

The Hindu Society of Ottawa-Carleton donates funds to RSS-affiliated organizations both in Canada and India. These include:

- Sewa Canada International Aid Inc.
- Jnan Prabodhini

- Chinmaya Mission Halton
- Aim For Seva
- Akhil Bharatiya Vk, Jashpur Nagar
- Arpana Trust
- Bharat Kalyan Pratisthan
- Bharat Sevashram Sangh
- Bharat Vikas Parishad
- Jankalyan Niwasi Vidyalaya
- Manav Sewa Pratisthan
- Mangala Sewa Samithi Trust
- Ramakrishna Mission
- Samarpan Trust
- Sevalaya
- Sewa Bharati
- Vatsalya Trust
- Vivekananda Kendra

Notably, they have reported some donations out-of-country on their T1236 form and others on their Schedule 2. Unlike EVFC, these do not appear to be duplicate entries, but rather unique donations (in at least some instances). Therefore, it is difficult to analyze the total amount of funds sent out-of-country.

6 CIF CHARITABLE FOUNDATIONS

CIF Charitable Foundations or the Canada India Foundation (CIF) is a Canadian charity originally registered in 2007. According to Seeing the Sangh it is a “nonpartisan, non-governmental organization established to foster bilateral relations between Canada and India.” Unlike many of the other organizations listed here which have a parent body based in India, CIF is headquartered in Ontario, Canada.²⁸ CIF has co-hosted events with Sangh affiliates and hosted RSS or other Sangh affiliated speakers.²⁹

Last year, CIF awarded Sadhguru with their CIF Global Indian Award for 2025. Sadhguru has shown support for the RSS and its ideologies. In 2025, he tweeted that the RSS “Nationalism has been a vital bridge during some of the most trying periods of Bharat’s recent history.”

CIF has not reported donations to other charities in Canada or gifts to organization out-of-country. CIF's biggest charity donor is the Chanchlani Foundation, a private foundation established by Vasu Chanchlani. He was also one of the founding members of CIF.³⁰

8 AIM FOR SEVA

All India Movement (AIM) for Seva is an organization focused on providing services to children in rural India.³¹ It was founded in 2000 in Chennai, and has strong links with to the RSS. This includes having co-hosted events with Sangh affiliates, received funds from Sangh sources, hosted speakers from the RSS, and shared offices with Sangh appendages.³²

In Canada, AIM for Seva is a registered charity since 2007. Its website makes the link to AIM for Seva in India explicit.³³ Since 2009, AIM for Seva Canada has sent anywhere from 45.3% to 94.2% of its annual expenses out-of-country. Since 2013, they have sent over $7 million to AIM for Seva India. This represents nearly 60% of all revenues since 2013.

9 BHARAT SEVASHRAM SANGHA CANADA

Bharat Sevashram Sangha (BSS) is a Bengal-based organization that was founded in 1917. It is focused on religious community and service provision.³⁴ BSS has hosted RSS or other Sangh linked speakers and have also reportedly conducted joint programs with Sangh affiliates.³⁵

In Canada, BSS has been a registered charity since 1974. They explicitly list BSS India as its parent body.³⁶ BSS Canada has not reported spending any funds on charitable activities since 2015. They also only reported gifts out-of-country in 2011. Instead, it lists most of its expenses as “other” creating a lack of transparency around how its funds are spent. There appears to be a trend whereby BSS Canada spends a significant portion of their revenue on interest and bank charges. In 2024, they reported spending $116,311 on interest and bank charges, representing over half of their annual expenses. Similarly, in 2023, they spent $123,286 on interest and bank charges, over 60% of their expenses.

10 BOCHASANWASI SHRI AKSHAR PURUSHOTTAM SWAMINARAYAN SANSTHA

Bochasanwasi Shri Akshar Purushottam Swaminarayan Sanstha (BAPS) is an “international religious sect with deep but ambiguous ties to the Sangh. (It has an independent structure, but significant ‘horizontal ties’ with the Sangh.)”³⁷ BAPS was founded in 1907 in Ahmedabad. It has co-hosted events with Sangh affiliates, hosted RSS or other Sangh speakers, and received funds from Sangh sources.³⁸

BAPS is also currently the subject of a criminal investigation for oppressed-caste exploitation and labour trafficking.³⁹ In 2021, the FBI raided a BAPS temple construction site in New Jersey, “resuing “about one hundred workers trapped in exploitative conditions.”⁴⁰ Workers have since launched a lawsuit alleging forced labour and trafficking, immigration fraud, wage theft, and caste-based discrimination.⁴¹ “The case of Dalit and Adivasi temple carvers stands as another paradigm where capitalist control of labour and global laws around citizenship and migration, religion, and caste co-conspire to perpetuate caste and class oppression.”⁴²

In Canada, BAPS has at least four registered charities: BAPS Charities Inc, BAPS Charitable Properties Inc, BAPS Inc, BAPS Mandir Development Inc. While multiple of the organizations give to and receive from various community organizations, they also circulate the money within the four organizations. This has principally been between BAPS Mandir Development Inc and BAPS Inc. Between 2022 and 2024, BAPS Mandir Development Inc gifted BAPS Inc over $33 million and BAPS Charitable Properties Inc nearly $2 million. BAPS Inc also gifted BAPS Mandir Development $10 million in 2022.

Both BAPS Charities Inc and BAPS Inc also give significant amounts out-of-country, with $300,000 to BAPS Public Trust in India and $7.8 million to BAPS Fellowship Services in the US, respectively.

11 CHINMAYA MISSION

Chinmaya Mission is a religious organization based in Mumbai. It “conducts and offers study of the Vedanta” and was founded in 1953.⁴³ It has countless links to the RSS including attending Sangh conferences, co-hosting events, hosting speakers, sharing offices, sharing officials, sending money, and being publicly affiliated to RSS by Sangh organizations.⁴⁴

There are at least 7 associated locations in Canada.⁴⁵ With the exception of a few donations out-of-country by the Halton Centre between 2013 and 2018, no other international gifts are recorded. A fair number of donations have however been recorded between Chinmaya Mission centres across Canada. Several centres have also donated to and/or received from Seva Canada, another organization linked to the RSS.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

THE PUBLIC BENEFIT TEST

The Public Benefit Test (PBT) is a two part test that all groups must meet to be registered as a charitable organization in Canada. “At common law, an applicant organization will be determined charitable only if it meets two fundamental requirements:

1. The organization's purposes must be exclusively and legally charitable
2. It must be established for the benefit of the public or a sufficient segment of the public.”⁴⁶

Part 2 of the test means a charity cannot “have an eligible beneficiary group that is...restricted based on criteria that are not justified based on the charitable purpose(s).”⁴⁷ While organizations can restrict benefits to certain groups, they must have justification.⁴⁸ This is often the case for religious organizations. However, “a restriction imposed on eligibility based on a person's religion when the purpose of the undertaking is not religious in nature (for example, the establishment of a science museum) will likely fail the public benefit test and disentitle the applicant from being registered as charitable.”⁴⁹ Therefore, for RSS-affiliated charities, any activities that are not religious in nature (e.g., education, disaster relief, medical services) would doubly fail the public benefit test where they are restricted to Hindus.

However, regardless of this fact, we further argue that any charity associated with the RSS, regardless of stated charitable purpose, fails to meet the Canada Revenue Agency’s (CRA) PBT. As has been explained extensively, the RSS is a Hindu nationalist organization that actively targets non-Hindu groups, including Muslims, Sikhs, Christians, Dalits, and Adivasis. RSS-affiliated activities directly contravene Canadian policy and law against discrimination and freedom of religion.⁵⁰ Canadian policy, as outlined by Global Affairs Canada, is clear that “freedom of religion or belief, is an important aspect of Canada’s constructive engagement in the world. Canada’s multi-cultural and multi-faith experience is reflective of Canadian efforts to champion inclusive and accountable governance, pluralism, and respect for diversity in all spheres of society...Canada has made the promotion of pluralism and inclusion, and the recognition of and respect for diversity a priority, both at home and abroad. In line with this commitment, Canada works with partners to enhance the international promotion and protection of freedom of religion or belief.”⁵¹

Further, Canadian policy against discrimination is enshrined in legislation including, but not limited to the Canadian Charter and various human rights codes. These policies and law have also been adopted by Canada through international legal instruments such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights. Therefore, on the basis of RSS-affiliation alone, the listed Organizations' charitable status should be investigated and revoked if indicated.

FAILURE TO DEVOTE RESOURCES TO ITS OWN CHARITABLE ACTIVITIES AND SUPPORTING NON-QUALIFIED DONEES

A Canadian Charity is required to “devote all of its resources to charitable activities carried on by the organization itself; a registered charity may only use its resources (funds, personnel and/or property) in two ways: for its own charitable activities – undertaken by the charity itself under its continued supervision, direction and control; and for gifting to ‘qualified donees’ as defined in the Act.”⁵² While charities can act through an intermediary, they “must establish that the activity to be conducted will further its charitable purposes, and that it maintains continued direction and control over the activity and over the use of the resources it provides to the intermediary to carry out the activity on its behalf.”

Based on this analysis, we are asking the CRA to investigate the following Organizations for potential failure to devote its resources to its own charitable activities, gifting to non-qualified donees, and/or acting as a conduit:

1. Aim for Seva
2. Bochasanwasi Shri Akshar Purushottam Swaminarayan Sanstha Charities Inc.
3. Bochasanwasi Shri Akshar Purushottam Swaminarayan Sanstha Inc.
4. Chinmaya Mission Halton
5. Ekal Vidyalaya Foundation Of Canada
6. Hindu Society Of Ottawa-Carleton
7. Sewa Canada International Aid Inc.

Therefore, we ask the CRA to investigate these organizations for breaching sections 149.1(1), 249.1(2)(c), and 168(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act.

FAILURE TO FILE ACCURATE T3010 RETURNS

In our review, we have identified significant errors in reporting from various organizations. As noted previously, some organizations have reported out-of-country donations on their T1236 forms. In other cases, Line 200 fails to match the total value listed on the Schedule 2 recipients form. Further, we found that charities often reported a value on Line 200 that significantly exceeded the total expenses for that year. This suggests inaccurate reporting.

In many cases, Organizations failed to provide accurate (and in some cases, any) business numbers on their T1236. Therefore, we ask the CRA to investigate these Organizations for breaching sections 149.1(14) and 168(1)(c) of the Income Tax Act.

SUPPORT FOR POLITICAL ACTIVITIES

Canadians charities are not allowed to:

- Endorse or oppose a political party or candidate
- Donate money or resources to a political party
- Tell people how to vote
- Run campaigns that clearly favor one party over another⁵³

Therefore, we ask the CRA to investigate if these charities have used charitable resources (funds, staff, infrastructure, mailing lists) for any prohibited political activities, whether in Canada or India.
