

You invest in the CANADA PENSION PLAN They put BLOOD on YOUR HANDS

WHAT: Canada Pension Plan (CPP) is the Canadian national social insurance plan (with the exception of Quebec which has CDPQ). CPP is funded through contributions from employees, employers, and self-employed individuals – aka, the residents of Canada. CPP funds are managed by an Investment Board (CPPIB).

WHY (DO I CARE): CPPIB takes our money and invests it in companies carrying out human rights abuses and war crimes (and we're not being dramatic or exaggerating).

Support for Israeli Apartheid, Illegal Occupation, and Genocide

In 2026, CPPIB reported $54.8 BILLION worth of investments in companies actively supporting war crimes, crimes against humanity, and genocide in occupied Palestine. This is almost double its complicit investments in 2025 and triple 2024.

This includes weapons and military support companies like BAE Systems, Lockheed Martin, CAE Inc, Rheinmetall, Chevron, Exxon, Curtiss-Wright, Ford Motor, and Boeing.

It also includes investments in 45 Israeli companies totalling $1.28 BILLION. The majority of these companies have well-documented ties to Israel's illegal occupation and settlement enterprise. It also includes significant investments in Israeli banks and insurance companies.

Companies are supporting Israel's military, security/surveillance apparatus, and illegal settlements (including through construction, and financing). Companies are also extracting natural resources from Palestinian land.
